THE NEW CITY GOVERNMENT.

The organization of the City Government for the ensuing year will be completed to-day by the installation of Mayor Laughton and the election of the various municipal officers. Caucuses were held on Saturday evening by the Republican and Democratic members of the City Council, at which it is understood that a full list of nominations was made on both sides, although a remarkable secrecy seems to have been observed as to the candidates selected. The voting to-day will reveal the preferences on either side, however, and as the Democrats say they have nominated a straight ticket and intend to support it, we hope that the Republicans have made wise selections and that they will exercise their rights as the majority in electing their candidates.

We are very sure that the Mayor of the city will on all occasions and in every way be treated with the utmost courtesy and consideration by the majority of the Council who are opposed to him in politics. We trust that he will find a hearty co-operation in whatever may be for the interests of the community, and believe that no factious disposition will manifest itself among those holding municipal control of the Boards. But it by no means follows that a proper regard for the functions of the Mayor's office should induce the Republicans of the Council to surrender any rights which they are clearly entitled to exercise, or that they should yield their control in any case where the result would be simply to give a partisan advantage to their opponents, and not to promote the welfare of the community.

There should be no need of reminding the Republican members of the desirability of acting unitedly in the election of the more important city officials, but a suggestion by the Democratic paper as to "according the Mayor such a police force as he may nominate" is so specious and full of mischief that we call attention to the subject. The plea is that the Mayor should select the force "to assist him in preserving order and executing the laws," and if Mr Laughton were to consult only his own judgment doubtless he would try to obtain the most efficient and trustworthy men. But it is well understood that men are expecting places on the force and are strongly pressed by the party interests, who are not fastened in those positions by the public, and whose appointment would not promote the efficiency of the service.

It is of great importance that we have sober, intelligent and trustworthy men on our police, and it is generally considered that the present force is composed of very efficient, reliable and well-trained officers. It requires experience to make a good policeman, and the system of turning off disciplined men to make places for the friends of ward politicians, is as senseless as it is unjust. Without small force it is doubly important that every officer shall be thoroughly familiar with his duty, and that he shall feel that his tenure depends upon good behavior rather than the result of an election. If there should be good and efficient reasons for the displacement of any member of the present force, its democratic incumbent should of course cause his removal, but otherwise we see no valid reason for a Republican Council to consent to changes detrimental to the service and only made to reward political favorites of the opposition.

We would have the Republicans wisely liberal always, but it will be well for them to bear in mind that the Democrats had barely one majority in the Council they would draw the place line on every question and cling tenaciously to every advantage. There are many questions in which politics are not involved, and even when they are the minority is sufficiently large for the ample protection of its rights. It is only when it is sought to gain partisan advantages or to adopt measures inimical to Republican principles, that we would have the Republican majority insist upon the exercise of political control, and upon all such occasions the exercise of that power is not only a privilege but a duty.

It will surprise the friends of a number of the estimable citizens who have been chosen to the Chief Magistracy of this city during the past decade, to be informed by that plausibly-conducted journal, the Northern Border, that they were all nominated by "grummers" who do names "can be counted on your fingers." We cannot help thinking how disastrously it must affect such gentlemen for instance as ex-Mayors Wakefield, Stetson, Thurston, Wheelwright and others to be characterized as "grummy nominees" by the Rev. Dr. B. F. Tefft, L. L. D., of Brewer, and that if Tim White is to be stigmatized for having such "rum-Republican allies," we may at least reflect that those citizens bore a fair repute before the Reverend editor brought his portable pulpit over the river. We bow with all requisite meekness under the reproof of that highly moral check, which stimulates the zeal of subscribers by promising the interesting spectacle of a Doctor of Divinity placing prizes in one vase and numbered slips in another, from which he will proceed to draw rewards for the faithful by lottery, the laws of the State to the contrary notwithstanding! In pretentious zeal for prohibition, our immaculate contemporary has evidently overlooked the fact that the principle is applied by our Statutes to other offences than liquor-selling, and it may not be amiss to call its attention to Chap. 128, Section 3, which designates its vase method of luring subscribers as "a nuisance," and provides the penalty, while Section 4 makes it the duty of the Attorney-General to complain of such enterprises "in the name of the State." We should have felt badly enough at incurring the displeasure of that powerful journal, even before its conductor had won such brilliant legislative fame, and wilt beneath a sermon from the gentle preacher whose name has recently acquired prominence in the press of this country as that of the author of a proposition for establishing a mode of punishment for crime, more horrible in its refinement of cruelty than anything which had ever before found an advocate within the bounds of civilization. The strictures of our neighbor are also the more severe that they come pointed with that nice sense of honor which incites the publisher of a Bangor newspaper to boast in its columns that he had craftily secured legislation by which the full benefit of a great public work undertaken by the tax-payers of Bangor would be afforded to the people of another community without any contribution toward the cost, and entirely at the expense of our citizens. We shall endeavor to profit by admonition from so distinguished a quarter, and hope that, if in the course of time we ever attain to the dignity of representing our fellow-citizens in the General Court, our associates in business will not deem it necessary to keep a sharp watch for special legislation!

PROHIBITION IN NEW HAMPSHIRE.

[From the Chicago Tribune.]

CHICAGO, March 9.—In your editorial on the New Hampshire election, in Tuesday's issue, you state that "The defection of Prohibitionists from the Republican party gave the State to the Democrats last year." Why do you presume that the Prohibitionists were all from the Republican ranks? The undersigned has lived in New England for number of years, and has travelled extensively throughout the Eastern States; is well acquainted with the temperance element in that region; and is prepared to state that the temperance people are about equally divided (!) between the Republicans and Democrats. Therefore, the Democrats would have carried New Hampshire had there been no Prohibition ticket in the field. When a Prohibition ticket is put in the field in that section, it is calculated that each party will lose about an equal number of votes. The old story that the temperance votes are all from the Republican party is getting to be rather thin.

DEMOCRAT.

The assertion of "Democrat" that "Half the Prohibition votes cast in New Hampshire (or any other State) come from the Democratic party," is wide of the truth.—In fact, blah. Some Democrats undoubtedly vote Prohibition tickets, but they are very few and far between. There are plenty of "temperance Democrats," but they are not political Prohibitionists, and very few of them ever waste their votes on Prohibition tickets. Last spring 2,109 Prohibition votes were cast in New Hampshire for Governor, and the result was, the Democratic candidate received a majority of 1,199 over his Republican competitor. This year only about 600 votes were thrown away on the Prohibition candidate, and the consequence is the Democratic candidate for Governor is beaten the majority of last year is wiped out, and it was done by the votes of the 1,500 men who on that occasion wasted their suffrages on the Prohibition candidate. The cause of the Democratic defeat this year is as plain as the nose on our correspondent's face. The temperance Republicans this year voted just as the temperance Democrats of New Hampshire always do,—for their own party ticket,—and a victory is the result.

After that stupendous editorial about "the Sun of Austerlitz," the editor of the Chicago Special was obliged to fall back on vegetables as highly substitutes for ideas, and lift upon the original and very funny device of presenting a quite sickly and dilapidated rooster as our portrait "after the election." As Mrs Partington says "Comparisons are odorous," and it will seem to many that if the aforesaid caricature represents our neighbor's conception of the effect upon us of such a little accident as that of last Friday, no living, or even recently deceased, specimen of ornithology would properly symbolize his own condition after the successful semi-annual trounnings he has received during the past fifteen years. The visit of Fox to this city suggests the name of a play brought out by him several years ago, in the advertisements of which a street lamp conspicuously figured, and we are reminded of what an excellent historical painting of the era of '61 might be made of the color of the Democrat "Under the Gaslight." And then, while "the Sun of Austerlitz" is such a pretty phrase, our neighbor should have remembered how the moon rose after Waterloo.

At a caucus of Republican Senators on Saturday morning, all except Christiancy and Robertson agreed to support a modified resolution approving the course of the President in suppressing the existing government and suppressing domestic violence in Louisiana. It was also agreed to refrain from further discussion and to vote against any recess or adjournment except over Sunday, until a final vote is reached. The Democratic Senators held a caucus and resolved to filibuster against the resolution with all possible dilatory motions, and then to debate it indefinitely. It is thought that they cannot stave off the vote more than four or five days, and many believe that an adjournment will be reached by Wednesday.

THE MAINE CENTRAL. The annual meeting of the Stockholders of the Maine Central Railroad Company, at Waterville next Wednesday, is awaited with much interest, owing to rumors of new combinations. On the one hand it is reported that the Eastern Railroad managers have secured a majority of the shares, and on the other it is strongly declared that the control remains adverse to the Eastern. A sharp contest is anticipated, and the result will have an important bearing on the relations between the Maine trunk line and the rival Boston companies.

BUTLER'S VIEW OF THE CIVIL RIGHTS BILL. A letter is published in New York from Gen Butler to Robert Harlan, of Cincinnati, inquiring if colored men are entitled to the privileges of saloons and barber shops under the provisions of the civil rights bill. Butler construes the inquiry about saloons to mean drinking shops, and says he is very glad that the bill does not give a colored man the right to go into a drinking saloon without the consent of the proprietor. He says further that the colored race need not envy the white so idiotic privilege, there may be in visiting tippling shops, and that the best service which could be rendered to a man would be in putting him out of such a place. As to barber shops he holds that the barbering trade is carried on by a man who is engaged in it at his own will and pleasure, and the Civil Rights bill has nothing to do, for was it intended to have anything to do, with the exercise of that trade. Butler says, while willing to defend the colored people in all their rights under the bill, he would oppose any attempt on their part to interfere with the private business of private parties.

POLITICAL AND PERSONAL.

The Union League Club of New York has passed resolutions condemning the appointment of Fitz John Porter, who was condemned for traitorous conduct, as Commissioner of Public Works.

The New York World has come to the sober conclusion in its "final comment" that the New Hampshire election cannot be claimed as a Democratic triumph! We are glad the question is settled!

The Manchester Mirror says: "When a Democrat takes to figuring we know he is beaten." We have often observed the same thing, and have called the attention of the New York World to it.—[Boston Journal.

The Chicago Tribune thinks that the only just criticism which can be made upon the action of the Republican party is that it has performed the mighty work of reconstruction too fast. It has been too eager to complete it. The headlong, impulsive manner of doing business characteristic of the American people is responsible, however, for this haste.

The Democracy at Albany appear to be in a regular hard, and Governor Tilden is catching it all round. The Tammany men abuse him because he defeated the Costigan bill, and will not remove the Fire Commissioners, while the "Canal crowd" are outspoken against him and speak of him with the greatest contempt. Such is the harmonious Democracy of New York.

ALABAMA CLAIMS AWARDS. The following cases were decided by the Court of Commissioners of Alabama claims on Friday: Case 523, Charles Peters, Edward J. Peters and Arthur F. Drinkwater vs. The United States. The complainants were owners of the brig Dunklin, destroyed by the Alabama on October 7, 1862. Charles Peters and Edward J. Peters claim for loss of brig and freight, $8,882 13-16, and Arthur F. Drinkwater, $593 3-16, with interest from date of loss. Judgment was rendered in favor of Charles Peters and Edward J. Peters for $5,025, and in favor of Arthur F. Drinkwater for $375, with interest in each instance from October 7, 1862.

Case 150, James Smith Cooper of Maine, against the United States, was submitted upon the testimony and argued. Judgment was rendered in favor of the complainant for $3,588175, with interest from the 2d of March, 1863, the date of the destruction of the ship John A. Parks, of which the claimant was master. There being no other cases ready on the part of claimants, the court made the following order.

"The court having finished the first trial docket, and having entered judgment in every case presented for final hearing, is adjourned until the 29th day of April, 1875, at which time the second calling of the trial docket will be commenced, and claimants are hereby notified to be ready at that time with proofs. No case will be passed on the second calling of the docket without sufficient reason is assigned, but a greater number than fifty cases will not be called in one day."

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Comm'r of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications into form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,

Late Commissioner of Patents."

Mr. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges.

ANOTHER WARNING.

Killed while Shackling Cars.

BATH, March 21st. Stephen Osborne, captain of the Knox & Lincoln ferry boat, was caught between two freight cars which he was attempting to shackle on the Wool-wich side this afternoon, and fatally injured. Capt. Osborne has repeatedly been cautioned in regard to exposing himself to danger unnecessarily, and said no one was to blame in the case but himself. He died at 11 o'clock Saturday night. He was about 35 years of age and leaves a wife and two children.

DOMESTIC NEWS.

SENATE—SPECIAL SESSION.

WASHINGTON, March 20.

In the Senate immediately after the reading of the journal, Mr Anthony, of R. I., moved that the Senate proceed to the consideration of the resolution submitted on Tuesday night by Mr. Frelinghuysen approving of the action taken by the President of the United States in protecting Louisiana from domestic violence, and expressing the opinion that he should continue to recognize in that State the existing State Government.

Mr. Bayard, of Delaware, raised a point of order that the effect of the resolution was legislation and therefore not in order at this special session of the Senate. Debate followed. The Senate by 28 yeas to 27 nays agreed to take up the resolution. Mr Anthony then submitted a substitute agreed upon in caucus as follows:

Resolved, That the action of the President in protecting the Government in Louisiana, of which Wm. P. Kellogg is Governor, and the people of that State against domestic violence and enforcing the laws of the United States, is approved.

Mr. Thurman said he wanted time to look into the resolution and it was evident from that the session would be prolonged to next week. He moved that the Senate proceed to consideration of executive business. Rejected—yeas 22, nays 33.

Mr. White said the resolution was a twitter for the admission of Pinchback, recently postponed till next December. He moved that the resolution be similarly postponed. Rejected—yeas 24, nays 30.

Before discussion on the resolution was commenced Mr. Anthony said it was not the intention of Senators on that side of the chamber to discuss the matter, and with all due respect to the ingenuity of Senators on the other side he did not think they could say anything new on the subject of Louisiana. Therefore he did not think there need be any trouble about voting upon it and having the third adjournment.

Mr. Bayard then spoke at length against the resolution.

During his remarks the time yielded for it to adjourn, which was rejected. At 7 45 Mr. Hamlin moved to take a recess. But his association in that was opportunity for conference and at 7 50 a recess was taken until 8 P. M.

The Republican Senators having concluded to allow the Democrats a monopoly in the Louisiana discussion almost every seat on the side was vacant this afternoon while Bayard was speaking.

During evening at 9 o'clock Mr. Bayard resumed his remarks opposing the resolution, a motion to adjourn being rejected 21 to 23, and at his conclusion Mr Maxey, of Texas, took the floor. Several motions to adjourn were rejected during the evening, and a colloquy ensued between Mr Anthony, who offered to adjourn if the Democrats would agree to take a vote Wednesday and Bayard and Saulsbury, who refused to do so such an agreement. Eaton of Connecticut at 10 o'clock took the floor against the resolution and spoke till 11.10, when Mr. Johnson, of Va., gave to continue the debate. At this point Anthony moved to go into Executive session, which was agreed to and at 11.21 the doors were opened and the Senate adjourned till Monday.

NEW YORK CITY.

The Money Market and Business.

NEW YORK, March 20. The Post says the changes in the bank averages are extraordinary, but unexpectedly favorable, in view of the manipulations of the gold ring during the week. They do not more than half work reflect the true condition of the market, or the banks. The banks are stronger than the statement shows. The general trade reports for the week are better that expected, the only impediment to a good business having been unseasonable weather, but even this has not diminished business as much as expected. The markets for breadstuffs and provisions continue strong and the advance in wheat properly causes encouragement.

Desperate Encounter with Robbers—A Trusty Watchman.

David B. Price, the porter of the St. Nicholas National Bank, was at 1 o'clock this morning awakened and shot only by another man in bed, which is made on a shelf behind the counter of the banking office, and saw but a few feet away from him a man swarthy complexion, who was accompanied by two others also masked, stealthily approaching him. He was rewarded to remain quiet by the foremost burglar, but replied that he was not there for that purpose. The thieves said that they would do him no harm, and that they only wanted money. Before he could spring up or reach his revolver, which lay beneath his hand, he was struck by a sand-bag in the hands of his assailants, and while another grasped him by the throat a third attempted to handcuff him. Although partly stunned he resisted vigorously and shouted lustily for help. He is a very powerful man and offered a desperate resistance. On gaining his feet he was still clutched by the throat, but succeeded in freeing himself, when he turned to secure his revolver. At this juncture the three men retreated toward the rear of the bank and hastily jumped from a window into the street. Price received many severe bruises, a severe gash above his cheek bone and was badly sprained in his efforts to escape from the desperate adventurers, who left a handcuff fastened upon his wrist. A mask and hat were lost upon the floor in the haste of departure, and a pistol which was dropped upon the sidewalk as the robbers jumped from the window, afford the only clue to their identity.

LOUISIANA.

The Compromise.

NEW ORLEANS, March 20. It is understood that the terms of the compromise will not be made known until the meeting of the Legislature, which will probably be on the 10th of April.

The Wheeler Award Received.

NEW ORLEANS, March 21. The Wheeler award has been received by Gov. Kellogg, but has not been officially published. It is understood, however, that the Committee has decided that about eleven Conservative members not returned as elected by the Returning Board are entitled to seats and that about six Conservatives whose election was claimed by the Committee are not entitled to seats. The arbitrators decided that Hahn, claiming to have been elected to the Senate on the Conservative ticket from the district which includes the towns of Coushatta and Colfax is not entitled to the seat. That in Grant Parish there was no election for member of the House and the Conservative contestant is awarded a seat in the Senate. The award, it is understood, leaves the House Democratic, and the Senate Republican. Majority on joint ballot seven. All of the arbitrators signed the award. Mr. Wheeler is expected to come to New Orleans to aid in carrying out the adjustment.

It is intimated on good authority that Kellogg will call an extra session of the Legislature about the 15th or 15th of April. The friends of the adjustment claim there will be no difficulty in carrying it into effect, public sentiment being now strongly in favor of a settlement of the political difficulties.

THE SPRING FLOODS!

The Delaware Overflow!

ICE-GORGE ON THE SUSQUEHANNA!

Great Destruction of Property!

The Delaware Flood.

NEW YORK, March 20. A special from Perrysville, Md., last night, says that the lower part of Port Deposit, Md., is still flooded, though the water is falling. The water this evening ran like a mill sluice with a depth varying from three to seven feet, through the main street. The current is so swift that a strong man could not scull a boat against it. The cellars and first floors of both sides are flooded. The inhabitants were driven from their dwellings to the houses of their neighbors who lived upon the hills. Many were taken off in boats and others waded waist deep through the water. A party who had given up their rooms to the women, are bivouacking on the side of the hill where a large fire is built.

Heavy Losses of the Lumber Interest.

The lumber interest which is the chief business of Port Deposit, is badly crippled. All the wharves are submerged; huge piles of lumber along the water front have been tossed about in all directions, and a large portion drifted down the bay. Some of the merchants hardly saved their book and papers. Darlington, one of the largest lumber firms, estimate the losses of those in that business alone at $60,000. The amount of furniture and other property carries the loss up to over $100,000. At 8 o'clock in the evening measurements showed a fall of four to twelve feet along the line from Port Deposit to Perrysville.

Cause of the Flood.

The flood was caused by heavy ice catching on Perry shoal seven miles below, thus forming a barrier which increased every moment. The railroad from Perrysville to Port Deposit is flooded and covered with piles of ice effectually cutting off all communication. There was no way of going from one part of the town to another except over a steep bluff.

If the crash had come after the people had retired, no one can predict how great the loss of life would have been. Five houses near the upper end of the town were overturned and broken in pieces. It is reported that one man lost his life. The post-office is partly submerged, and the postmaster was forced to throw what mail matter he could into a boat and escape. The ice at one time reached the top of the piers of the railroad bridge at Havre de Grace, but the river began to fall before the tide rose, and all danger to it was over.

The Susquehanna Ice-Gorge

A Wilkesbarre dispatch gives the following as the situation last night. There is no change in the condition of the ice gorge at this place. The river which runs principally over Kingston flats has fallen three or four feet since Tuesday. The ice remains piled up from twenty to thirty feet high in some places, and touches the high water bridges, now, over which none but foot passengers pass. In this city no gas is yet used. Two miles above Pittston a bend in the river, another great gorge of ice begins and extends in an unbroken mass from twenty-three to thirty feet deep, and occupying the whole space between the banks as far as Fall Station, a distance of nine miles. The river runs under this gorge nearly the whole length.

Two Miles of Drift Ice.

Above this there is a collection of drift for two miles long, which has come down within the last two days. This great gorge causes intense alarm in West Pittston, which would be entirely swept away if it should come down with a flood. The river is open for 100 miles above Pittston gorge, but at Big Island, near Oswego, there is another gorge with 10 miles of ice behind it. This gorge, which will soon have to come down the river, is caused by the feeder dam of the Chenango Canal and river men say it is composed of the heaviest ice on the Susquehanna River.

Ice Piled Twenty-Five Feet High.

At Ransom, four miles above Pittston, the ice is twenty-five feet above low water mark. It is probable that the gorge above Pittston will move before the one here, and if so it will block up Kingston flats, which give vent to the river opposite this city and cause a flood unexampled in the history of this Valley. The bridge of the Delaware & Hudson Railroad, three miles below here, worth $30,000, will probably go, as well as the bridge of the New Jersey Central Railroad, at Nanticoke, five miles further down worth, 875,000. At Nanticoke there is a large feeder dam of the North Branch Canal which will be sure to cause a jam of ice.

Subsiding.

COLUMBIA, Pa., March 20. The flood has nearly subsided. Eltzner mill-dam is entirely destroyed. The railroad bridge will require repairs before trains will be permitted to cross.

Clearing the Tracks.

HARRISBURG, Pa., March 20. The Columbia Branch road, though covered for several miles with ice and driftwood washed on the track, will be cleared tonight. No damage has been done to the roadways, bridges or buildings.

The Great Gorge—A Valley in Terror.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., March 20. There has been no change in the water to-day. The gorge, which begins two miles above Pittston and is nine miles long, is a terror to the entire valley. The river runs between mountains for part of the distance, and the high water cannot spread but must back up until it has force enough to drive the gorge before it. For this reason it is believed that this gorge will move before the one at Wilkesbarre.

PENNSYLVANIA.

"The Molly Maguires"

MAUCH CHUNK, March 20. A dozen special policemen arrived from Philadelphia last evening for duty at Summit Hill, Ashton and other places, to protect the men and property of the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal Co. The police force now in those places is believed to be sufficiently large to hold in check the turbulent "Molly Maguires."

VIRGINIA.

The Cadetship Sale.

RICHMOND, March 20. The Senate Committee on privileges and elections agreed upon a report last night declaring the connection of Senator Geo. W. Graham, with the sale of the Schoolcraft cadetship of Congressman Stowell's District to have been corrupt, both in receiving money from Dr. Beattie, (Schoolcraft's guardian) and in offering the same to Congressman Stowell. The Committee's report concludes by recommending the adoption of a resolution expelling Graham from the Senate of Virginia. It is probable no action will be held till next Friday.

KENTUCKY.

Arrest of Ku-Klux.

LOUISVILLE, March 20. The Courier-Journal reporter who was sent to the locality of the troubles in Todd Co., reports that four of the accused Ku-Klux will be brought up for trial next Monday. A company of State militia has arrived and all is quiet. There are no fears of an attack upon the jail, or any attempt at rescue of the prisoners by their friends.

OHIO.

The Mining Riots.

COLUMBUS, March 20. Gov. Allen has despatched Adjutant-General Ames to Steubenville, where the mining riots are occurring, with authority to the sheriff of the county to exert his full authority and call out such a posse as will restore order and protect life and property.

Miners on their Colors.

Later.—Adjutant-General Ames returned from Steubenville to-night and reports all quiet. Information has been received that trouble will follow any attempt to put colored miners in the Troy mines. The white miners are determined to drive the colored miners from the field and keep them out.

SOUTH CAROLINA.

The Governor Succeeded.

CHARLESTON, March 20. The Legislature debated the removal of Treasurer Cardozo all day yesterday and took a vote at midnight on the adopted of the address demanding his removal. The address was not adopted, the result being in the Senate, yeas 11, nays 18; and in the House, yeas 45, nays 63. This is regarded as a vindication of Gov. Chamberlain's administration and of the integrity of the present management of the State Finances. The conservatives generally voted to sustain.

THE WEATHER.

WAR DEPT., OFFICE CHIEF SIGNAL OFFICER, Washington, D. C., March 22, 1 A.M.

Probabilities

During Monday, throughout the Atlantic States, stationary or rising barometer, northeast to northwest winds, clear cooler followed by warmer weather.

FOREIGN NEWS.

GREAT BRITAIN.

The University Boat Race.

LONDON, March 20. The weather was favorable for the boat race, though rather cold. Betting during the morning was 3 to 1 on the Oxford crew. The banks of the Thames were lined with a mass of people. All the avenues to the river were blocked with vehicles and pedestrians, and at noon London presented almost a deserted appearance.

Oxford Wins.

The Cambridge boat took the lead at first, but Oxford soon overtook it and won the race easily by ten lengths. The steering of the Cambridge boat was bad. They rowed a quicker stroke than Oxford and led to Crabtree, where the Oxford crew up with them. From Hammersmith Bridge Oxford maintained the lead to the

The U. S. Centennial.

PARIS, March 20. In consequence of a recent appeal made by Minister Washburne to the Deputies and principal merchants of Paris, a Committee of Patrons has been formed to make arrangements for the participation of France in the Philadelphia exhibition. The Marquis de Lafayette has been chosen President, Duchemmin and Walowski Vice Presidents, and Deputy Elefant Secretary. On the Committee are Senators, Deputies, including Laboulaye, Ferry, Max Richard, Arbel, Jullien, Johnson, Jouber, and Pascal Duprat. The Committee is considered an exceedingly influential one.

CUBA.

The Murderer Sharkey Arrested.

HAVANA, March 20. Wm. J. Sharkey, the escaped New York murderer who left City recently, has been arrested in Santiago de Cuba. He will either be banished from that place or brought back to Havana and then returned to the United States.

Brighton Tallow, 5c ₩ lb.

Country Hides, 7 @ 8c ₩ lb.

Country Tallow, 5 @ 6c ₩ lb.

Calf Skins 14 @ 16c ₩ lb.

Sheep and Lamb Skins, $2 each.

The supply of Cattle from the West for the past week has been larger than that of any one week for several months past. The quality upon an average was full as good as those of last market. Prices upon all grades fell off from ½ @ 1c ₩ lb, and the trade did not open as lively on Tuesday as it has of late. There were a few Cattle in from Maine, mostly workers, for which there has been a limited demand. Most of the Western Cattle which came by the Grand Trunk Railroad and landed at Westerton, were taken to Brighton to be disposed of.

Working Oxen—We quote sales of 1 pr, girth 7 0, live weight, $700; 1 pr 6 ft 10 in, live weight, $195; 1 pr 6 ft 8 in, live weight, $155; 1 pr, 7 ft 1 in, live weight, $210; 1 pr 7 ft 2 in, live weight, $185; 2 prs, 7 ft, live weight, $175 ₩ pr; 1 pr 6 ft 9 in, live weight, $250. The supply in market has not been large of late, a few pairs each week being all that the demand requires until spring opens.

Milch Cows—Extra, $80 @ $90; ordinary $55 @ $70; Sidee Cows $35 @ $45 ₩ head. Most of the Cows offered in market for sale are of a common grade. Extra Cows command fair prices and sell quick. Many of the Store Cows are bought up by butchers to slaughter.

Store Cattle—Yearlings $11 @ $15, two year olds $15 @ $27, three year olds $28 @ $45 ₩ head. There is not much call for Store Cattle and but few in market, most of the small Cattle being sold for veal.

Sheep and Lambs—From the West the supply was lighter than it has been of late, all owned by butchers, and selling landed at Brighton from 6½ @ 8c ₩ lb. From the North the supply was light and prices the same as those of one week ago.

Swine—No Store Pigs in market. Fat Hogs, one in market, 7½ @ 8½ @ ₩ lb.

They leave for Augusta this morning, and give an entertainment there to-night.

Bangor has raised the salary of its Mayor at $1,200 per annum.—This item, unwarranted by the facts, is going the rounds of our exchanges. It was probably derived from the recent action of the old Board of Aldermen by which an order was passed fixing the salary as stated. This action received the non-concurrence of the Common Council, and the salary remains as before, —$800 per annum.

The work of making preliminary surveys for the proposed dam is now being actively prosecuted. A party is engaged in making soundings at Webster's Point, and another party is engaged in making cross sections at a point nearer the city. Surveys will be made at some half-dozen places, ranging from one mile to two miles and a half from the city. At Webster's fifteen men are engaged in cutting the ice for soundings.

VIEWS OF KATAHDIN. The Maine Farmer has the following compliment for a Bangor artist:

"Recently we have had the pleasure of examining some very fine stereoscopic views of Mt. Katahdin scenery, the work of Mr. F. W. Hardy of Bangor, the talented photographer who accompanied Prof. Fernald's party to the mountain last summer. The series consists of ten pictures showing different views of the mountain and surroundings, and should be possessed by all who have a love for the beautiful and grand scenery of our State.

EPISCOPAL VISITATION. On yesterday the Right Reverend Bishop Neeley paid his annual episcopal visitation to St. John's Episcopal church, preaching morning and evening. At the latter service there were a number of confirmations. In the forenoon he preached an ecclesiastical discourse, from Philippians 2—5, this being included in the lesson for the day. The Bishop forcibly and eloquently portrayed the goodness and love of God for man; how He took upon Himself the form of man, was permitted to be tempted and betrayed, and finally to die on the cross. He admonished his hearers that in their love for the things of this world, that they do not seek as Christ, their own, and forget their obligations to Him, who took the form of a servant, and humbling himself, became obedient unto death, even the death of the Cross. He dwelt at some length on the subject of the trinity, and in touching words exhorted his hearers to seek the Cross of Christ; to look to it, as to a stumbling block; but to confess their obligations, acknowledge their faults, and find that grace which is for one who humbly acknowledges his imperfections at the foot of that saving symbol of man's redemption.

THE MILFORD MURDER CASE.

SUPREME JUDICIAL COURT,

FEBRUARY TERM, CONTINUED.

Fifth Day of Carson's Trial—Positive Testimony as to the Axe—Statements Made by Carson to Various Witnesses.

HON. JONAS CUTTING, Justice presiding.
JASPER HUTCHINGS, Esq., Co. Attorney.
RUEL SMITH, Esq., Stenographer.
EZRA C. BRETT, Esq., Clerk.

Forenoon.

Saturday, the fifth day of Carson's trial, was occupied with the examination of witnesses for the prosecution. The court opened at 9 o'clock, A. M.

JACOB HASKELL.

Jacob Haskell was sworn, and testified: Resides in Milford, lived there at the time Brawn lost his life; was at home that day. Live next house to Mr. Riggs. Heard of Brawn's death from Mr. Libby, between 4 and 5 o'clock. Immediately started up to the head of Big Fields; went up the main road with Mr. Riggs; saw Mr. Carson when we first got there; he was out in the river, between Indian Island and Indian Island, in a boat, the bow up river. Riggs called him ashore. He came ashore on the point of the ledge, left the boat by about a rod from the shore, bow up river. Nothing said between witness and Carson. Riggs asked him where Brawn fell overboard. Carson was sitting in the boat, and told where Brawn fell out. Carson got up and took hold of the boat with his left hand, thrown right over on his left side toward the island, saying that was the way Brawn fell; Carson's hand and shoulders went into the water. When he left, witness caught hold of Carson and pulled him into the boat. Witness was in the boat when he leaved over. When he came back into the boat he came up to witnesses and said, "You d——d ——s on think I'm drunk?" Witness got out of the boat and went up to the fence with Riggs; Carson did not get out then. Soon after Carson came up to the fence and witness went back to the boat. Left Carson at the lower with Riggs. Witness went home with Riggs and came back in a boat, went up in Stone's landing and searched there; saw the grappling when witness was going over the river. In a boat going down; Carson's boat was forty or fifty rods from the landing; there was a woman and boy with him. He was in the stern, the boy in the bow, the woman in the centre of the boat. Saw Carson walk up to the fence first time witness was up there. He didn't walk straight, couldn't tell whether he was intoxicated or not. He handled his boat well when he came ashore. Saw George Matson's boat up there; saw him first time witness was there. Has boat got there before witness started to come back.

Cross-examined by Mr Knowles: Was not a witness before the coroner's inquest; has never been a witness before in this case. Carson was at the head of the Eddy, in the middle of the river, when witness first saw him, and was alone. Thinks Carson had been drinking, haven't my doubt he had. Carson put his left hand on the boat and went out on the left side toward Indian Island, the boat was pointing up river; got into Carson's boat, might have been in it three minutes, stepped in before he went overboard. Did not go out in, saw nothing in the boat but a rag pad; Carson had one oar in his hand, saw no paddle. Carson's boy, a Perry, was another boy came there before witness left. Can't tell if the other boy was, should think he was 12 or fourteen years old, the Perry boy was not so large as the Carson boy; the boys went where Carson was. Heard no conversation between Carson and the boys, the Carson boy was talking with his father, heard what he said; did not hear Carson's reply. Witness stuted for the Point as soon as he heard Brawn was drowned.

JORGE MATSON

sworn. Reside in Milford. Was at Milford Exchange the day Brawn lost his life, and there heard of it about 5 o'clock. Took a boat and went up with three other. Saw Carson at the ledge, sitting in the boat, went close to him and spoke to him, asked him where Brawn fell out; his reply was "He fell out between the point of the Island and Stone's landing." Carson didn't tell us that how Brawn fell out. He said Brawn fell, "They came ashore at the ledge; the ladies got out and went up the bank; Brawn and he was going to be captain down there down to the Point, Brawn got in and went to sit down in the stern and fell over backward into the water." Carson also said he "never saw Brawn after he fell in—never saw him live." Carson said he was out of the boat when Brawn fell in, and that he pushed the boat off and tried to save him. Carson said he was standing on the ledge filling his pipe at the time.

Cross-examined by Mr Knowles: Did not see what was in Carson's oar, did not ask him what he was about. Made search the next day for the body.

Re-direct examination: Began to search the Monday morning following the affair, searched at Stone's Landing; Carson was there Monday morning. He pointed out the place where the boat lay, that morning, at the lower point of the ledge; pointed out the same place the night before.

CYRUS PARTRIDGE

sworn. Lives in Milford; was at the Exchange when he heard of Brawn's death; went up to the ledge with Matson; saw no one there but Carson. Witness further testified to same facts as already given.

Cross-examination by Attorney for defence. Did not see what was in Carson's boat that Sunday afternoon.

EDWARD M. LINNY

sworn. Was at steam-mill shed when informed by Mrs. Dougherty of Brawn's death, at about 5 o'clock. Went up to the Point of Rocks in a boat. Did not hear Carson say how Brawn fell into the river. Saw Carson when he got to the landing near his own house that night. Saw him pull off his boots; noticed one of his toes was cut off, saw George Carson take a coat out; he said "there's a drowned man's coat" when he took it out; carried it right up to the house, saw him carrying an axe; don't know where he got it or took it from; he had it going from the boat to the house; noticed it about a rod from the boat; it was a common axe, long-handled axe; don't remember whether the prisoner was in the boat or not, quite a number were around the shore at the time.

At noon the court adjourned till 2.30 P. M.

Afternoon.

At the hour for commencing in the afternoon the cross-examination of Edward M. Libby began.

Witness is sixteen years old; is not acquainted with Carson but knows his boy George. Did not see any one in Carson's boat. Saw George take the coat from the boat; saw nothing but the coat in his hand when he came out of the boat; he did not have an axe when he got out.

Re-direct: Saw George have the axe after he took the coat up; did not see him pick the axe up.

Cross-examination continued: No one has talked with witness about it, or how it was from the boat when witness saw George with the axe; estimated the distance about a rod and a half; may have been five minutes from the time George left the boat till witness saw him with the axe; did not see George Carson on the boat at any time except when he got the coat; witness was there all the time, till he saw George with the axe. Attorney General: "Don't be so savage, Bro. Knowles." Knowles: "I'm no more savage than the occasion requires. Well, I won't be savage." Witness: "I'm not afraid of him." Knowles: "Yes, I see you are not."

sworn. Lives in Milford and is 14 years old. Was at the boat when George Carson took the axe out; he first laid it and some other things on the shore and then carried them towards Carson's house.

The cross examination elicited no additional particulars.

NELLIE WHITE

sworn. Lives in Milford and is 12 years old. Saw George Carson take an axe from the boat and carry it home.

Cross-examined: George Carson's face, nose, and shirt were bloody when he came ashore.

THOMAS CUNNINGHAM

sworn. Lives in Milford, is 14 years of age. Witness testified in corroboration of previous testimony as to the axe, and the bloody appearance of George Carson.

CHARLES L. PERKINS

sworn. Testified as to the axe. Thomas McManus took Carson home from the landing.

With the examination of this witness five days of the trial concluded, and the court rested for the week. The Judge informed the jury that they were sworn to keep together and speak to no one outside of the panel; that they must, from necessity, be under the guardianship of the officer during the trial, but the court did not wish to deprive them entirely of all liberties. If they desired to attend church, and could agree upon one and attend in a body, they could do so with the officer; and if a clergyman from the pulpit should attempt to influence them in their decision by any language in reference to the trial, the court would deem it contempt, and would not hesitate to inflict the full penalty of the law for contempt of court.

The court adjourned till 9 o'clock this morning.

Penobscot County Farmers' Club.

The Penobscot County Farmers' Club met at the State College, Orono, at 11 o'clock, A. M., Saturday, March 13. The first attraction for the farmers was the new barn; it was generally conceded that the first want (if a farm is a good barn, and in this respect the college has started right. While every farmer cannot have so large and expensive a barn as this, yet every one may learn something of practical value from a personal inspection of this model building.

The meeting was called to order in the chapel by President Lugh. The question for discussion was "Fruit Raising in Maine." In the absence of those appointed to open the question, D. M. Dunham, Esq., of Bangor, spoke briefly, setting forth some of the helps and hindrances to fruit-raising in this State.

Stinson Pender, of Orono, gave his experience in protecting trees from mice and borers; his remedy is to take a piece of black tarred paper, pushed well down into the dirt, and curled close around the tree; with this protection he has never had trees troubled with mice or borers.

Eli Rigby, of Upper Stillwater, gave his experience in preventing the ravages of the current worm by using hellebore.

J. R. Farrington, said he had been equally successful in the use of hellebore on his currant bushes. It was asked if it would destroy the cabbage worm; Mr. Farrington said he had tried hellebore for the cabbage worms, and he thought the worms flourished better with it than without.

President Allen said in Franklin county the fruit growers have a lively fight on hand, this process they claim that they make better bearing trees.

J. R. Farrington, in connection with fruit trees, said that he couldn't kill trees with meadow hay; that he considered better than any other material he knows is Baldwins till April.

Hebron Lude said he found one of the greatest drawbacks to orchard-raising the introduction of foreign trees. Some good orchards have been killed from them, but a large amount brought here are entirely worthless.

Prof. C. H. Fernald said he was pleased to hear that we have a professor who knows nothing but entomology, and does nothing but entomology; he would give a few of his observations; first, however, he wished to state that in his opinion he does work enough for his salary without catching bugs. The black heart of trees has been spoken of, from late French investigations it is feared that it is a plant of very low order, and a remedy has been devised to get rid of it in a few days. The insect which lays the eggs which make the apple tree borer works only in the night; hence, he knows of no practical way of destroying the borer but to go after him with a sharp wire. There are about a hundred insects which prey upon the apple; of these the Professor said he would manage some of the more troublesome, and at the next meeting give a history of their habits.

R. H. Hunt said on his farm in Jackson he was very successful with fruit; he put great faith in clay soil; but had not spice enough to do well.

W. E. Gibbs said that he did not believe that Maine was adapted to raising fruit, and he thought that it was a work of time to try to raise more fruit than is wanted for use upon the farm.

The meeting adjourned to meet at the Fuller schoolhouse, in Bangor, on Saturday, March 27, at 10 o'clock A. M. At this meeting Prof. C. H. Fernald will give a lecture on fruit-destroying insects, and Eli Rigby will give his plan for planting orchards.

The New York Tribune of Saturday says: "The evidence of Miss Bessie Turner yesterday was probably as important and certainly as curious as anything yet given in the Beecher trial. It makes havoc of Mr. Tilton's ideal home, and unfolds some of its more remarkable averments can be utterly disproved, would seem to make equal havoc of what is left of his character. The cross-examination of this witness will be watched by both sides with painful curiosity.

TO THE CONSUMPTIVE. Let those who languish under the fatal severity of our climate through any pulmonary complaint, or even those who are in decided consumption, by no means despair. There is a safe and sure remedy at hand, and one easily tried. "Wilbor's Compound of Cod Liver Oil and Lime," without possessing the very nauseating flavor of the Oil as heretofore used, is endowed by the phosphate of lime with healing property which renders the oil doubly efficacious. Remarkable testimonials of its efficacy can be exhibited to those who desire to see them. For sale by A. B. WILBOR, Chemist, Boston.
